28th February 2025

Dear Parents and Carers,

It has been a lovely first week of the half term, the children returned ready and raring to go with their learning.

Please see below a list of important dates for this half term for your diaries!

A quick reminder that red noses are on sale in the office and that breaktime snacks must be healthy and nut free.

Best wishes,

Learning Highlights

- In Nursery this week the children have enjoyed sharing their half term adventures, talking about family and friends is an important way to make sense of who they are and we love hearing about their experiences.
- In Reception this week the children have begun to explore growth and growing plants. The children have created a story map for The Tiny Seed and can retell this brilliantly!
- Key Stage 1 had a super launch for their new text, The Day the Crayons Quit, they were transformed into crayons for the day and will use this as inspiration for their writing.
- In Key Stage 2 the children are very much impressing us with their progress in Mathematics, particularly with times tables, well done everyone!
